Business Punk Award: MHP with innovative work environment

- MHP convinces with an innovative and digital working environment
- For this, MHP receives the "Best Employers for Future Work 2023" award from Business Punk magazine and the research company Statista in the consulting, research and technology sector

Ludwigsburg - "Enabling you to shape a better tomorrow": MHP's purpose is not just a promise to customers. It also creates the framework in which employees experience their work as meaningful. This has now been confirmed by the "Best Employers for Future Work 2023" award in the consulting, research and technology sector, which MHP received from Business Punk magazine and the research company Statista.

For the first time, the two cooperation partners systematically examined the working environment at 1,500 employer brands in Germany. To this end, they surveyed employees of the companies on the areas of "meaning/values," "workplace/technical equipment," "development/digitization," and "communication/flexibility. In addition, a social listening approach was used to collect data on reputation and generate "Future Work" KPIs based on ratings in job and career networks. The individual results produced an overall score.

Dr. Ralf Hofmann, co-founder, shareholder and CEO of MHP: " I am convinced that you can only create a working environment in which everyone feels good if you know what you get up for in the morning. And we know that. With our Purpose and our Values, we have a clear understanding. The opinion of our employees and the evaluation of the available data are confirmation for us that we have been doing many things right for more than 27 years."
