MHP once again shows how it cares about children, social issues, and sustainability

Toward a brighter future with Christmas donations from MHP

- MHP has been committed to good causes for almost 25 years by making donations to selected (aid) organizations
- The management and IT consultancy supports projects close to its heart, such as the Olgäle Foundation Children's Heart Center in Stuttgart and Tannheim Aftercare Clinic, helping sick children and their families
- "29 years of MHP – 29 donations" is part of the annual aid program
- Over 130,000 euros have been donated to projects benefiting social causes, children and young people, sustainability, mobility, and culture

Ludwigsburg – For the management and IT consultancy MHP, supporting good causes is a key part of the corporate philosophy it embraces. The consulting firm traditionally always donates to special (aid) organizations in the run-up to Christmas. In addition to its donations to the Olgäle Foundation Children's Heart Center in Stuttgart and Tannheim Aftercare Clinic, both projects close to its heart, MHP is once again supporting projects benefiting children and young people, social causes, sustainability, and culture as part of the annual aid program, this year known as "29 years of MHP – 29 donations." The donations are particularly designed to provide help where it is urgently needed – and not only momentarily, but in the form of lasting support with a long-term impact.

This festive season, 29 donations each worth 2,900 euros have been made to selected (aid) organizations at the MHP locations in Germany. These included children's aid projects and hospices, environmental protection associations, and food banks in Ludwigsburg, Munich, Nuremberg, Ingolstadt, Frankfurt, Düsseldorf, Wolfsburg, Dresden, and Berlin.

Federico Magno, Group CEO of MHP, explained: "MHP was founded with a good heart and clear values – and that is exactly what characterizes the way we interact with others on a daily basis. On the customer side, we play our part by working alongside our customers and partners with courage, determination, and a consistent approach to make a tangible impact when dealing with complex challenges. We also embrace this attitude toward society: As a team, we are there for each other and for others. Together we are shaping the future – step by step and with confidence."

It all began with the partnership and the help given to the Olgäle Foundation Children's Heart Center

For almost 25 years, the management and IT consultancy has been supporting the Olgäle Foundation Children's Heart Center in Stuttgart – and this year is no exception with a donation of 25,000 euros. MHP has maintained a long-standing partnership with the Olgäle Foundation for the Sick Child. Ingo Guttenson, Director Head of Sponsoring and CSR at MHP, explained: "Our donation to the Olgäle Foundation Children's Heart Center in Stuttgart is a matter close to our hearts – the first donation almost 25 years ago marked the start of our commitment to good causes and we are very pleased to be able to provide long-term help through our partnership." The pediatric cardiology clinic is one of the most modern in Europe. Patients from premature babies to adolescents with congenital or acquired heart diseases receive care here. The broad spectrum of pediatric cardiology services ranges from diagnostics and therapy to nursing care and intensive care after heart surgery.

Long-standing partnership with Tannheim Aftercare Clinic

Tannheim Aftercare Clinic gives families with severely and chronically ill children hope again with its medical and therapeutic approach to treatment. They receive comprehensive care at the facility to boost physical and mental stability and draw new strength. A further donation of 25,000 euros is enabling MHP to embrace its partnership with Tannheim Aftercare Clinic with the aim of helping affected families and giving something back to the Baden-Württemberg region. This donation is also a matter close to the heart of MHP, allowing young and old patients and their families to benefit from rehabilitation and giving them the chance of a brighter future.
