Professional User Rating 2026

Users rate MHP a champion when it comes to managed service

- Management and IT consultancy MHP once again named among the leaders in techconsult's Professional User Rating 2026
- Users have decided, choosing MHP as a champion in the field of Managed SAP S/4HANA
- 3,500 IT experts took part in the study

Ludwigsburg – The German research and analyst firm techconsult, a company of the Heise Group, has named the management and IT consultancy MHP a champion in the Managed Service category, and more specifically in the area of Managed SAP S/4HANA. The "Professional User Rating: IT Operations 2026" is based on the ratings of approx. 3,500 IT experts from user companies.

The Managed SAP S/4HANA segment covers the support and development of SAP S/4HANA landscapes over the entire life cycle, from the operation of the digital core to support, maintenance, and technological upgrades – based on the SAP Business Technology Platform (BTP), the HANA database, or other add-ons, for example.

Markus Wambach, Group COO at MHP, explained: These days, the digital core is a company's operating system. If processes, data, and software do not reliably interact here, then innovation and growth are held back. Our task is to lay precisely these foundations – secure, scalable, and capable of being continuously developed. We are especially pleased that our customers rate this approach so positively."

About the methodology

For the "Professional User Rating: Managed Services 2026" techconsult considered 192 providers on the German market.

There are two aspects to the rating: the company rating and the service rating. With the company rating, participants assess a provider's service portfolio as well as its support, ability to innovate, and presales performance, among other things. The service rating looks at the quality of the managed services themselves – including consulting services, implementation, ongoing operations, and the benefits and effectiveness of the services. Only providers who achieved particularly good ratings in both aspects were awarded the title of champion by techconsult.
